11 Bushwickites Win State Regents Tracksters Take Four Scholarships and Alternate Awards Heets in P.S.A.L. Meet

By Sophia Braccioforte

New York State Regents scholarships were recently awarded to seven Bushwick seniors: Ronald Corrado, 8-1, Theodore Damico, 8-1, Ulrich Erhardt, 8-6, Daria Jakymchuk, 8-6, Mariann Nowack, 8-1, Lorraine Schneider, 8-1, and Claudia Uhl, 8-7.

These students will receive an annual award of $250 to $700, depending on financial need for each of the four years of their college course in New York State. All of them plan to use their scholarships.

Ronald, who has an avid interest in music, plans to major in it at New York University after his graduation in June. Ron is also a member of Senior Arista.

Teddy will use his scholarship while attending Queens College where he will major in biology or physics. He is also a member of the Senior Arista and the track team.

After his graduation in June, Ulrich plans to attend City College, where he will major in art.

Daria, who shows an avid interest in the field of medicine, plans to use her scholarship while attending Brooklyn College. Daria is editor-in-chief of the Oriole and a column writer for the BULLETIN.

Mariann and Lorraine both want to attend Brooklyn College. Mariann, who hopes to become a lawyer, is one of the news writers for the BULLETIN. Lorraine has no future plans as of now.

Claudia, who will use her scholarship while attending Hunter College, aspires to be a home economics teacher. Besides being a member of Senior Arista, Claudia is also the first page editor of the BULLETIN.

Eight of the Regents scholarship winners and alternates gather in Publication Office: T. D'Amico, A. Antipow, C. Uhl, R. Berger, L. Schneider, M. Nowack, U. Erhardt and A. Vita.

In addition to these winners there are four students who are on the alternate list: Anatoly Antipow, Robert Berger, James Harris, and Anthony Vita.

Out of the 152 Bushwick students who took the Regents scholarship examination, 112 received Scholar Incentive Awards. These winners will receive an annual award of $100 to $300, depending on financial need, for each year attending any tuition college in New York State.

By Teddy D'Amico

In the City Championships held at the 102nd Engineer Armory, March 1, Bushwick's track team turned in its most impressive performance of the year. Competition in the meet was furnished by the public schools of New York City with over 70 schools participating.

Nick Barraco started things off when he turned in a sparkling 4:54.1 mile and held off the challenge in the stretch to win his heat. Barraco's time is the fastest in Bushwick's history for a sophomore and second fastest mile of the year.

In the two mile run Ted D'Amico made it two wins by winning his heat by over 150 yards in 10:32 which was 9 seconds off his best time. D'Amico finished 6 or 7 in the city on time basis and third in Brooklyn.

1,000 Yard
In the 1,000 yard race immediately following the two mile run, Lomnyckyj breezed to a 30 yard victory in the 1,000 yard run. Lomnyckyj's time which was 2:36 was far off his best due to an extremely slow first quarter and because he was boxed in through the first 600 yards. In the second 400 yard run Gordon Rogan turned in a spanking 2:33 which was his best and equalled the school record. Rogan was second through most of the race and with 70 yards to go began to kick making up 10 yards in the stretch to make out wins for our track team.

Besides our firsts there were other noteworthy performances turned in by our boys (Continued on Page 5)

G.O. Produces Play To Promote Sales

By Antoinette Algeri

The General Organization of Bushwick High School began the spring term's assembly schedule with a skit promoting G.O. membership. It was presented to the Junior and P.M. assemblies March 4, and to the Senior assembly March 11.

Robert Berger, G.O. president, portrayed the announced of a broadcasting station. Frank Benintendo had the role of Mr. Swiftee, a Madison Avenue advertising agent hired to aid in advertising techniques.

One popular technique suggested was the testimonial. At the mention of this, Esther Lespier, secretary of the G.O., brought out a group resembling the well-known Beatles. They called themselves the Fleas. Members of this singing group were Tony Ferrara, Bruce Neri, Joe Nappi, and Anne Marie Santangelo. They sang a number of songs concerning G.O. membership.

Before the presentation of the skit, the winners of the Regents scholarship and the alternates were congratulated on the stage by Dr. Forsheit.

The students were then taught Bushwick's school song by Mrs. Gitelman with the help of the chorus. The words were flashed on a screen and were sung first by the chorus and then by the other students.

Bellafiore Elected Senior Class President

By Kenneth Prill

Rose Marie Bellafiore, 8-3, Mary Ann Caruana, 8-7, and Ignatius Costanza, 8-12, were elected president, vice president, and secretary, respectively, in senior class elections conducted this term.

Two elections had to be held because no one candidate in the first election received a sufficient percentage of the votes necessary to be elected.

Foreign Disks Used For Experimentation

By Sue Kender

A second language experiment is being conducted by Mr. Rogal, chairman of the Language Department. Records in French, Spanish, and Italian are being made available to students studying these languages. The experiment is to be an analysis between the records and tapes used in the first experiment.

The records will be available in the school library when Mrs. Kerswill, one of the school librarians, has had them catalogued. Students will be able to borrow them in much the same manner as books are borrowed, and play them on phonographs at home. There are fourteen records in each language and are connected with material used in class.

The job of these newly elected officers is to plan all senior activities, including the Prom and Senior Night. Senior Night, a dinner and dance for seniors only, will be held May 8 at the Hotel St. George in downtown Brooklyn. The Prom will take place at the Fleur de Lis on Wyckoff Avenue, May 29.

Tickets for the Prom are now being purchased before the deadline set for the early part of April. The money is being collected by the official class treasurers who in turn give it to Mrs. Rivera, the P.T.S.A. president, to be deposited in a bank account.

Mrs. Rivera is working closely with the new senior class officers to insure the Prom's success.

Press Council Viewed By Two Juniors

By Helen Bukowiecki

Distinguished representatives of the world of journalism were present at the Overseas Press Club, February 19, for the fifth General Meeting of the High School Press Council.

Mr. Gay Talese, feature writer for the New York Times and Mr. Paul Swenson of the Wall Street Journal Newspaper Fund addressed the students through the efforts of Mrs. Majorie Longley of the School Service of the New York Times.

John Velez, 6-8, and Helen Bukowiecki, 6-4, two members of the journalism class, represented Bushwick.

Mr. Swenson explained that the Newspaper Fund donates money to assist aspiring journalism students in the hope that they will enter a journalism career.

Mr. Gay Talese discussed "Effective Feature Writing." He emphasized the importance of re-writing a feature to make it more effective.

Mr. Talese told a story about an old scissors-sharpener walking the streets of New York with the tools of his trade, to illustrate the importance of finding an unusual feature angle.

Honor Roll

The BULLETIN Staff would like to express their congratulations to the following freshmen whose names were omitted last month from the Honor Roll for their exceptional achievement.

Augello, Anna	92.0
Augello, Phyllis	92.0
Boccanfuso, Louis	89.8
Bongiorno, Marilyn	90.4
Dimone, Vincent	92.4
Gnolfo, Frank	89.2
Gulatto, Michael	92.8
Lehmann, Dorothy	88.0
Lespier, Charlotte	93.6
Ryan, Christine	86.0
Smith, Kathleen	85.0
Rivera, Maria	86.0
Ugliarolo, Gandolfo	95.6

Also omitted from the Honor Roll was a junior, Sophia Braccioforte, who attained an average of 88%.

New and Old Clubs Sparked by Activities

Frederick Douglass Club

By Fannie Jackson

Members of the Frederick Douglass Club viewed a Memorial Tribute to Dr. William Edward Burghardt Du Bois at Carnegie Hall, February 23. Ruby Dee, Ossie Davis and others of the theater dramatized the highlights of the life of Du Bois. He was considered one of the greatest Afro-American scholars and believed in equality for all men. Du Bois died August 27, 1963, at the age of 95.

Arista

By Miriam Rivera

Miss Haron, supervisor of Senior and Junior Arista, is especially proud of her members. Six out of the seven Regents scholarship winners are Arista members. They are: Ronald Corrado, Ulrich Erhardt, Daria Jakymchuk, Mariann Nowack, Lorraine Schneider and Claudia Uhl.

Arista members Anthony Vita and Robert Berger were two of the four alternates selected for a Regents scholarship. Scholar Incentive Awards also went to a large number of the Arista members.

Future Arista plans include a continuation of the worthwhile tutorial program. Last term, the Arista members who tutored students in a large variety of subjects during their free periods or after school did a very commendable job according to Miss Haron and the fortunate students involved.

Future Teachers Club

By Carol Fahrback

The Future Teachers Club, under the supervision of Miss Haron, has been asked by the principal of P.S. 299 to aid in an after-school center.

The members will be able to work with the teacher and the children once or twice a week. Arrangements are also being made for the club to view special films on teaching. Membership is open to all those interested.

Girls Swimming Club

By Ilona Czerniawski

A Girls' Swimming Club has been recently organized under the supervision and guidance of Mrs. Zemsky, the swimming instructor for the Health Education Department. The club meetings will be held every Monday afternoon between 4:05 and 4:50.

Those who wish to join do not need to know how to swim in order to be able to participate in the activities of the club. A membership quota of thirty is necessary and a parent's consent slip is needed.

In the future the club will discuss swimming techniques and tests.

Tropical Fish Club

By Karen Diefenbach

This term, Mr. Reifer of the Social Studies Department has organized a tropical fish club. Students meet informally during the day to check the condition of the fish, to feed them and to discuss their care.

Girls Bowling Club

By Kathleen Ingarra

The Girls' Bowling Club has welcomed Mrs. M. Smith as their new supervisor. The club was inactive for a while because Mrs. Golden, the former supervisor, has left Bushwick. The girls meet once a week at Marco's Lanes from 4 to 6 P.M.

Trinity Club

By Theresa Powell

Frank Zampedri of 8-7 presented a discussion on the Catholic mass at the last Trinity Club meeting. Carol Sherman of 8-7, John Quigley of 6-7, and Priscilla Vazquez of 8-9 will each give a discussion of their own choosing in the meetings to come. Mr. Kelly, the adviser, plans to take the club members on a trip to Freedomland during the Easter vacation.

Fun and Farewell

No, the BULLETIN staff hasn't flipped their lids. It's just that it's that time of the year again.

Spring is beckoned in with one day reserved for all the merriment and gaiety of spring. Bushwick anticipates April Fool's Day with great eagerness. The senior staff of the BULLETIN has taken this opportunity to let their hair down after three or four years with their noses to the grindstone. (Says who?)

For the benefit of the unobservant reader, page 2, with the exception of the masthead and these two editorials, and all of what is normally page 3, have been devoted to April Fool's Day.

Hope you have as much fun reading these articles as we have had putting them together.

Since this will be our last chance as senior staff members of the BULLETIN to have our voices heard, we take a small part of this editorial space to wish the junior staff well and to thank our readers for their support.

This is formally the last official issue of the graduating class. The May issue will be essentially the work of the sixth term journalism class. New editors and reporters will be chosen and will be announced in the next issue.

This transition is made in May because of the Columbia Scholastic Press Association contest. The May, June, October and November issues are used in the judging of the contest. In order that all four issues are the sole efforts of one staff the transition is made at this time.

Congratulations!

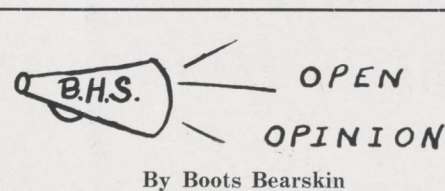

We would like to take this opportunity to congratulate not only the Regents scholarship winners, but also the alternates and the scholar incentive award winners.

With accomplishment laid behind us, we look anxiously forward to the coming senior activities. However, our scholarly studies have not ceased. Therefore, through all our jesting and fun to come, let us not forget our obligation to achieve all that is possible in our studies.

The coming senior trip, the prom, senior night and the trip to see Shakespeare's Hamlet in Connecticut will undoubtedly prove to be interesting and enjoyable experiences.

Remember, although we'll have fun, one cannot build a life on pleasantries. We must work before we play.

M.J.D.

QUESTIONS To what do you Beatles attribute your popularity?

Bingo Barr, Drummer

In writing this, I do not want to convey the impression that I am a magniloquent susqu Coastalianist or even a megalomaniac who was fortunate to be educated in the finest pedagogical institutions in the world.

Besides, I don't attribute my talent to my great intellectual standing amongst my fellow hairy combo.

As you cats know, my drum playing is the greatest. My rhythm is the wildest and my sound, the coolest! All I can say of these features is they stem from the fact that I am temperamental, musically inept, deaf and just magnificent, boss!!!

Saul McSmartey, Singer

Many of you may be wondering why I am so popular. Well, let me clue you in. I believe you Americans use the expression "Straight from the horse's mouth." Yeah! Yeah! Hip, hip.

This popularity and smashing attraction is derived from the fact that I have that manly, suave, debonaire and well-groomed appearance that actually slays you American girls. Yeah, Yeah, Yeah! Hip, hip.

I just want to say that I can't blame you Yanks for going wild over me; I would too. As for my bonnie hair, all I can say is see what happens when you don't eat your fish chips. Cheerio!

Gorgo Happison, Guitarist

Blimey, what a smashing giggle! Saul, my boy, is popular, but you Yanks know I am the best looking. If I must say so, my hair plops over my eyes much more sexily than his.

And Bingo, my cohort, though his drums swing, my guitar has a beat he has to grow into.

All these imitators will never catch up to our swinging combo! The Roaches, the Grasshoppers, and Sammy's Slimy Shimmy Snakes, though they started at the same time, have no class and man, they can't compare to the great Beatles.

You American dolls are certainly my cup of tea! I say, at four o'clock, why not let me be your lump of sugar?

Juan Lemon, Guitarist

The prime reason for my great success as a Beatle started because my father was a poor man. He couldn't afford to get me a haircut, so my hair kept on growing.

All the other kids used to stay away from me because I had such wild, long hair. Everytime they saw me they would bust out laughing. They picked on me and all that rot!

I say I was lonely! So, I joined a "long hair" club. The other members—there were three—had hair like mine. One day we decided to keep our hair in the same hairdo. We thought this would give the club class.

We started our jolly combo and now my only problem is that I'm too rich and busy to have time to get my hair cut. Yeah, Yeah, Yeah!!!!

News Flash!

Bushwick's newest singing group, The Ants, were a howling success at the Spring Swing dance. The girls were in rapture as they sang their big hit, "Nah! Nah! Nah!"

Have you recently noticed that the grilled-cheese sandwiches served in the cafeteria seem a little skimpier than they used to be? Or are you one of those that ends up eating a ham and cheese sandwich without cheese? Of course everyone is aware of the fact that although the chocolate-vanilla sandwich cookies are quite abundant, the peanut butter-cheese crackers are almost as rare as caviar. The reason for these deficiencies in the supply of cheese products at our school is the addition of two new staff members—Mr. and Mrs. Rat Phinque.

High Social Level

As can be observed by noticing the rather odd spelling of their name, the Phinques at Bushwick are from a much higher social level than the ordinary Finks found in any other school. As a matter of fact, these two, shall we say creatures, are two of the very few aristocratRATs left in their species.

Mr. Rat Phinque began his higher education at Ratt Institute, right here in Brooklyn. After receiving his baccalaurat and master's degrees there, he attended Mousachussetts Institute of Technology for some finer training. There he obtained a doctorat degree.

Mrs. Rat Phinque, formerly from Ratchester, New York, went to Ratcliffe College for her S.A. (spinster's degree). However, after marrying Mr. Rat Phinque, she thought her degree was rather inadequate and therefore went into a deeper pursuit of knowledge at Ratgers University.

Bright Offspring

With two well-educated personalities such as these, it stands to reason their offspring would also be considerably intelligent. Mr. and Mrs. Rat Phinque are very proud of their daughter, whom they endearingly call Brat Phinque. She achieved a score of 801 on her R.A.T. (Rodency Aptitude Test).

Mrs. Rat Phinque's favorite pastime, aside from consuming cheese, is reading. Her favorite writer is Alexandre Dumouse, author of The Three Mousketeers. Mr. Rat Phinque keeps himself busy with teaching at a guidance center for rat-school dropouts. He specializes in mousetrap dismantling. Mr. Rat Phinque is also a distinguished chemist, very adept at analyzing and counteracting or neutralizing various rat poisons.

Plan To Travel

In the future the Rat Phinques hope to go

Misguided Missile

By Miss L. Toe

Many students have been coming to the employment office for advice on proper procedure to follow when going for job interviews. Trying to be helpful this columnist has summarized some musts for success in acquiring a job.

First, be properly dressed; a Beatle sweat-shirt is a must for both boys and girls. Blue jeans with that lived-in look will work wonders. A pair of yellowish white sneakers make a more favorable impression on the boss than bowling or track shoes.

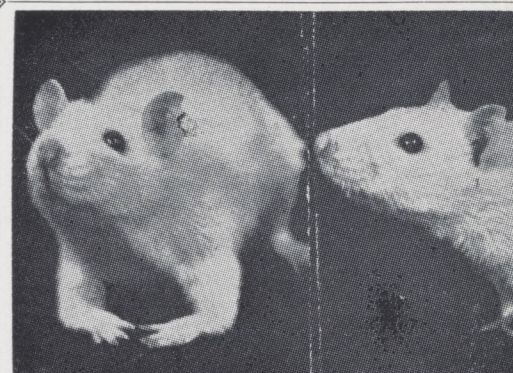

Boys, your hair should be newly cut, but no one must know. Girls should have their hair as stiff as possible, with tons of hair spray so it will not flop down into the eyes. To give girls that experienced, older look, false imitation-mink eyelashes should be as long as possible. Blue-green eyeshadow under the bottom lid brings out the sparkling white of the eyeball.

Be prepared with your recommendations from the teachers, friends, and the local truant officer. Who knows? The boss just might know the truant officer. Every little bit helps. Speaking about bit, be sure to have something to bite on, such as a few sandwiches to quiet a nervous stomach.

There is no reason to be nervous anyway. Speak clearly and slowly, using proper English. Say "sir" or "ma'am." Uh... on second thought maybe a big wad of gum in your mouth can cover up any mistakes you make.

As Polonius said to his son in Shakespeare's Hamlet "To thine own self be true... thou canst not then be false to any man." This is good advice, but in simpler words, "A little white lie to the boss might get you that job." Flattery will get you everywhere.

For additional information, or if you have any questions, don't come to me, office hours are from here till eternity.

Mr. & Mrs. Rat Phinque rejoice at hearing of their daughter's success.

to Europe, especially Switzerland. Mrs. Rat Phinque's father once worked in a Swiss cheese factory, and has told her about his ordeals trying to put the holes into the cheese. For that reason, Mrs. Rat Phinque has vowed to eat the cheese and leave the holes behind.

Both the Rat Phinques, as well as the rest of their kind, firmly believe that sooner or later, before man has gotten too far, rats or mice will have reached the moon. Their comments about the current political situation are exactly the same as those concerning our school—a loud emphatic "SQUEAK." Interpret that as you wish.

Bushwick Briefs

The Home Economics Department reports that the cooking classes are constantly decreasing. More and more girls are dropping out each day proclaiming that they'd "rather be beautiful."

The Radio Club informs us that they are doing their best to find a way to keep the program Radio Freed Europe on the air.

Old-Soft refuses to sponsor it any longer because the Russians are laughing at the product, since it can't soften up Russia's iron curtain.

Bea Cook has won the baking contest for her unique rolls. Her recipe on how to make the Honor Roll will be posted in the cafeteria.

Arm and Mallet washing soda will hold interviews at Bushwick in search of mothers and daughters with look-alike elbows.

The Bulletin staff attended a very important discussion at the United Nations Building. They discussed which current issue affected the United States most, Johnson's tax-cut or the Beatles' hair-cut.

The Language Department's trip to Europe proved quite adventurous. They discovered there are five kinds of Franco-Americo sauces!

Miss Take from the English Department took second place in an earth-wide English contest. She missed first place because she didn't know the meaning of the word abomorable. She says, "Now I will never forget the meaning of the word abomorable—a bull that swallowed a bomb."

The History Department is organizing a trip to tour New York. Among the sights that will be seen are the United States' hot-line to Russia and pipe-line to Guantanamo.

Prize Pictures of Typical Students From Bushwick

There are numerous problems each student must face daily at Bushwick . . . here are but four of them. You have probably witnessed these before, but being such industrious people you tend to overlook them. These are just typical people, in typical scenes, of these typical times, in typical Bushwick.

Mr. Reifer Disappears; Accuse Club Member

By Erbie Hillingway

The mysterious disappearance of Mr. Reifer, Mariner Club adviser, has perplexed all of Bushwick High School. Since the arrival of the fish, Sam, things have begun to disappear without a trace.

Wednesday, March 25, the Hieroglyphics 41 class walked into

The suspect, Sam, reclines in seeming innocence while the school is in an uproar.

Room 405 and found only Sam smirking in a jar on the teacher's desk. Upon a thorough search, no trace of Mr. Reifer was found but muffled sounds were coming from Sam.

To add to the confusion, Mr. McDaft, the faculty adviser who has temporarily (?) replaced the elusive Mr. Reifer, has begun having hallucinations. Thursday, March 26, he was found in a state of hysteria and claiming that a fish had chased him through the halls.

The American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Teachers is conducting a thorough investigation of this chaotic situation. During this investigation, the A.S.P.C.T. is keeping Sam in a tank which walls are three feet thick and has a fiber glass covering.

Bushwick Tiger Makes Debut

By Celi Coma

Bushwick's new mascot is going to make his debut today at the intramural karate championship. The mascot, a small tiger cub, has been donated to our school by Davy Crockett.

Grr . . . Grr!!

Miss Frenette has been caring for the cub since Mr. Crockett presented him to the school Monday, February 30. She will introduce the cub to the school at the meet. In honor of the festive occasion, she will wear an orange and black striped shift with a big orange bow in her hair and black sneakers.

The BULLETIN has been informed that during a critical part of the program, the cub shall be let loose in the stands. "This," explains Miss Frenette, "will be done to allow our students and our mascot to become a bit friendly, thus endearing everyone to our school."

The tiger, a lively and an adorable creature when watched from a distance, is approximately 6 months old. He comes from the heart of the Amazon Jungle, which perhaps explains the rumba beat to his growls.

Basketeers Just Miss Second Playoff Berth

By Gus Grande

Our basketball team ended the 1963-64 PSAL season in third place of the Queens "B" Division.

The Tigers, with a record of six wins and four losses, finished two games away from the league leading Woodrow Wilson team and only a game away from second place (last playoff berth) Aviation. This was the closest the cagers have come to entering the playoffs in many a season.

The Black and Orange hoopsters were in the race until the very end. In the final day of the regular season, the Tigers were playing Edison on our court and Aviation had a road game against East New York. An Aviation loss, combined with a Bushwick victory, would have tied the two teams for second place.

The Tigers preserved their undefeated league record at home by beating Edison, 50-41. However, Aviation edged E.N.Y., 78-72, thus depriving our team of the only chance it had to qualify for the playoffs.

Coach Diamond praised the basketeters for the great job done this season. Since only Steve Lo Curto, John Rieger, and Bob Dudley will be missing from next season's squad, the coach expects an even greater improvement.

Baseball Team Ready to Play

By George De La Mothe

Bushwick's Tigers are working hard with strong hopes of winning the division championship.

Coach Caligiuri expects a good season banking on the return of last year's varsity players. The varsity players who contributed greatly to the team's success last year are as follows: Sal Agliarolo, P; John Ewert, C; Joe Doria, 1B; Paul Maltese, OF; Joe Marino, IF; Angelo Pazienza, P and 1B; George Phillips, SS; and Matt Roccaforte, OF.

Talented newcomers who will add power to the team are: Terry Brasile, a young pitcher who looks good; Harold Jobs, Walter Nyziak, a big utility man; Anthony Russo, and Anthony Spinella.

If you have baseball experience at third base, as a catcher or pitcher, and are a lower termmer, there is still time for you to join the team. You must act fast, for the exhibition season is almost here.

Handball Season Starts April 16

By Lawrence Gaiardelli

April 16 marks the start of the handball season. Bushwick will play a total of five home and five road games.

The other teams in our tough division are: Wingate, winner of last year's PSAL New York City Championship, Brooklyn Tech, Boys High, East New York, and Hamilton.

Mr. Collumb, new coach of the handball team, has been holding try-outs for the past few weeks. A ladder tournament is conducted and in this way the best players will be picked. The team will consist of about ten to twelve boys.

The tournament leaders, as of March 9, were:

1. Anthony Anello
2. Anthony Fontana
3. Anthony Chiello
4. Rudy Legler
5. Robert Frennette
6. Jack Iannitelli
7. Melvin Rice
8. Peter Adamo
9. Dan Finn
10. Abe Rosenberg
11. Lonnie White
12. Gary Maggio

Tracksters Take Four

in by Moses Tolentino and Anthony Pelicane. Tolentino, a sophomore, finished second in his heat with a 25.5 in the 220 yard dash and should be a great asset to Bushwick in future years. Pelicane finished third in the quarter mile run in 57 flat which was close to 3 seconds off his best.

Commerce First Outdoor Meet

The City Championships concluded the indoor season. The first outdoor meet is the Commerce Relays at Van Cortlandt Park. In this meet Bushwick will be represented by a distance and sprint medley and a mile relay team. Following the Commerce Relays will be the Queens-Iona Relays and again Bushwick will be represented by the same teams.

In preparation for the outdoor season, the track team holds practice at least four days of the week and often uses the facilities of Queens College for practice. During several time trials there have been many fine times. Barraco ran a 1:22 600 and Marc Robinson and Rachford Potter broke 54 for the quarter. With these times and increased practice, Bushwick's track team looks forward to a very promising outdoor season.
